This website is to help you find organizations and individuals dedicated to helping Bali in environmental sustainable and socially caring practices. Also to provide the means to connect with each other and where to find environmentally friendly sustainable products.

How to use the site.

Organisation Search Using the key word select menu organisations can be sorted out via location ,and or what operations they may be involved in

Our goal is to have every organisation on the Island listed in order to assist aid donors,government, like minded organizations, and caring individuals to be able to connect with the groups that they feel are of interest to them.

Product Search Besides searching for organizations both big and small, in order to further support a sustainable Bali there will also be a product search for socially fair and environmentally friendly products.

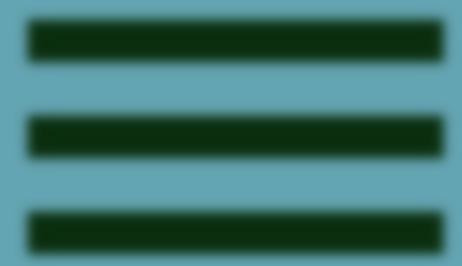

Within this website you will find a menu that looks like this  , click on this and a menu of functions will appear

"Ecology for a Sustainable Island"

Bali is blessed with nature and culture. An ideal tropical island where wet and dry seasons fall roughly into balance. The island's soils, topography and water resources are well suited to the habitation of the island's population who have lived sustainably for centuries. With the advent of tourism and western influences the island has seen it's natural environment under duress in the last 30 years.

The 'Bali Sustainability HUB' is a revolutionary way of tackling the many problems the island is now facing. It's goal of joining individuals, communities, government and groups together to work collectively towards a better sustainable future is comprehensive, complete and informative. As a directory it is helping problems the island is now facing. It's goal of joining individuals, communities, government and groups together to work collectively towards a better sustainable future is comprehensive, complete and informative. As a directory it is helping people collaborate to maintain Bali's unique environment through innovation, science and strategies aimed at changing the way people do things.

You can help Bali too, just make the HUB a trusty companion, a go to place when you require knowledge or want to help with something you have to offer. Together we can surmount the problems facing Bali and support new and effective plans for a clean and green future.
